Topic: Sexual Selection Theory
Written Questions:
Describe in detail what you think are the three most significant models (theoretical constructs) for studying sexual selection. What are their principle similarities and differences?
Now describe where you see your work fitting into the field in terms of the direction you think the field needs to take over the next five to ten years. This section could read like the outline of a grant proposal you would write given the review of models you provided above.